He took part in seven major engagements; holds honor medals and was the first volunteer to leave Pocahontas county.

His Commander was Teddy Roosevelt, Jr., who died of a heart attack during the war with Germany, so recently ended.

When a relative, Clarence Bennett, son of Ira Bennett, asked him what he would like to have as a souvenir of the Japanese engagement if he (Clarence) returned safely, he answered, "a Jap eyetooth."

Clarence Bennett obliged him by bringing back three eyeteeth.

Harry D. Marshall

A tom weighing 30 pounds among wild turkeys listed this season up to the middle of November in reports from hunters to the conservation commission, was a 30-pounder, exceptionally according to officials, was a Ray Dahmer, of Cass. He was killed on the north side of the River, in Pocahontas county. Other nice birds, in the same class, were reported bagged.

The youngest hunter reported was a lad of 13, who had a pound hen with a .22 rifle.

Next to the 30-pounder was a blower weighing 19½ pounds. D. Campbell of Marlinton, Allegheny Mountain in Pocahontas county. This county is a good hunting territory for turkeys. Shrewsbury, of Princeton, reported that he had bagged a turkey weighing 18 pounds and a 10-inch beard.

Approximately 80 killed reported up to November 20. Officials explained that hunters are late in making their reports that the total kill up to now probably was considerably more than 80. The season, which will end December 20, will end December 20.

ROBT. AULDRIDGE, HILLSBORO, ABOARD USS YOSEMITE

Robert L. Auldridge, quartermaster, second class, USNR, Mill Point, W. Va., and other men who manned the destroyer tender USS YOSEMITE during the war helped write the pages of the history of that ship now being brought up to date by the Navy.

The Okinawa campaign brought the biggest task for the crew of the YOSEMITE. Whenever a gun was fired there, or a torpedo turned loose, or a watch checked for an important coordination of time, there was a good chance the crew of the YOSEMITE had helped make it possible.

When Task Force 58 was being readied for the Okinawa drive, the Navy men of the YOSEMITE had little time for sleep. Working day and night over a 20-day period, the crew served approximately 60 destroyers and destroyer escorts.

The work included checking of hulls, electrical equipment, motors, engines, valves, pipes, guns and gun sights, torpedoes, navigation instruments, typewriters and watches of every one of the combat vessels the YOSEMITE served.

In addition, the deck forces and the men in supply handled for the task force ships 570 tons of dry provisions and 645 tons of fresh and frozen provisions, with a value of $259,872.85 at Navy prices.

ONE OF WAR'S HIGH POINTERS

Aboard the Amphibious Attack Transport USS NOBLE in the Pacific—Beverly C. Kenney, yeoman, second class, Marlinton, W. Va., was expected to be back in the States about November 18 with other Navy men serving aboard this ship, with a happy "cargo" of 2,000 officers and men who are among the "high pointers of the Pacific war.

Assigned to the "Magic Carpet" fleet of some 250 ships, the NOBLE picked up its initial load of veterans at Tsingtao—a group of Bluejackets and Marines, and embarked October 28, for Okinawa, where she was filled to capacity with other veterans, utilizing every foot of space for extra cots for the homecoming.

Crewmen of the NOBLE are generally agreed that their post-war assignments have been even more exciting and interesting than the war operations. In September, the ship carried the first American occupation troops to Jinsen, Korea, then took aboard evacuated prisoners of war for treatment and transfer to the Philippines.

Unsettled weather conditions and other handicaps during the week of deer season just completed was rough on hunters who came to Pocahontas this year, and resulted in a somewhat lower figure than usual in the number of deer killed.

According to figures furnished by members of the conservation commission staff, 182 deer were killed in Pocahontas. There were five known illegal kills and several arrests were made for persons hunting without a license. These violations were punished with fines and costs totalling $691.00.

Many judicial decisions are based on preceding like cases. Reading has unearthed that the beaver has been on trial before: in Minnesota, in the West, and in the New York Adirondacks. So, for the next several weeks let's review these other cases and base our judgment of his West Virginia kin on the case histories of these his ancestors. This surely can be done without the confusion of baseless controversy: without getting out on any unstable limbs. baseless controversy: without getting out on any unstable limbs. In the meantime, there are many interesting features of this largest member of the rodent family.

He has wonderful fur that is combed and groomed with a so-called "louse comb" on his hind feet. The fur is so fine and dense that his skin never gets wet. He can close both his nose and ears to the entrance of water. Also, he can close his lips watertight and still cut and gnaw under the water. Cutting is done with incisor teeth which are long, curved and razor sharp. If one gets lost or broken he is doomed to starvation. The opposing incisor as result of lack of use and wear will continue to grow from the root and may even penetrate the opposite jaw. More than

Universal Military Training Favored By Pocahontas Post

At the meeting of the Pocahontas Post No. 50, American Legion, held last Monday, June 11th, it was unanimously voted to support the Gurney-May Universal Training Bill—Senate 188; House bill 515, now before Congress.

This bill provides that all physically fit youth be required to undergo one year of peace-time training in the armed forces between their 18th and 22nd years, and thereafter be enrolled for six years as reservists. They are not, however, to be subject to call except upon war or other emergency declared by Congress. A boy of 17 may elect to take training at that age with the consent of his parents.

If a youth who completes his training follows it by one year of satisfactory volunteer service in the armed forces, he will be exempt from the six year reserve enrollment. He may also obtain the reserve exemption by serving in the National Guard or Naval Militia for two years or in an organized reserve unit for three years.

This bill is something that the Legion has fought hard for 25 years. It has the overwhelming endorsement of the men who are fighting this war and who know, all too well, how necessary it is to have adequate training. It is not a war measure but a peace program. Its opponents falsely label it conscription, but nothing could be further from the truth, because trainees could not be called up under a selective service system in the same way as all other men.

The opposition to this bill is the

The opposition to this bill is the same as those who have opposed all preparedness programs of our country. It is always their plea that the matter be delayed for some reason or other, or be thrown out completely. In 1914 and 1916 they were against preparedness and how many lives can be charged against this opposition because of our unpreparedness in the first World War. In 1920 they opposed the National Defense Act. In 1923 and subsequent years they raised their voices against appropriations for the Army and Navy. In 1924 they fought appropriations for support of R. O. T.
C. and C. M. T. C. In 1925 they waged battle against appropriations for National Guard and Reserve Officers Training. In 1932 they were against military training in the C. C. C.

leges and State Universities. In 1939 and 1940 they appeared to combat the Selective Service Act, which did so much to save us in 1942. In 1943 the same groups were fighting the induction of 18-year-old boys, and today we find these same groups combating the Universal Military Training and asking that action be postponed, knowing that it will be adopted if action is being taken today.

If you believe in Universal Military Training as a post-war peace program, as a real insurance policy to insure future peace, as a protection against aggression, as a means of having our youth prepared for emergencies and being able to protect themselves and our nation, then write your senators and congressmen to hasten the passage of this bill as a post-war peace program.

You believe in insurance on your property, your car, your person and your life, why not insure our nation's future freedom and peace?

Bronze Star Awarded To Lieutenant (j. g.) Walter Jett Of The U. S. Naval Reserve

For distinguishing himself by heroic and meritorious service in the line of his profession while serving as machine gun control officer and recognition officer aboard a ship in the Southwest Pacific area during a period when his ship was subjected to many attacks by Japanese aircraft. Lt. (jg) Jett controlled the fire of his battery so skillfully that the enemy planes were either destroyed or driven off before they could inflict damage. By his own splendid example under the attack of enemy aircraft, he inspired the men of his battery to such a state of alertness that they were able to pick up, identify and take under fire, enemy planes which had escaped detection by other means. His courage and devotion to duty have distinguished him among those performing duties of the same character.

By virtue of the power delegated me, I take pleasure in awarding in the name of the President of the United States the Bronze Star to Lt. Walter Earl Jett.

Pfc. Jerry S. Gray, of Cass, Awarded Bronze Star Medal For Heroic Action in France

Under the provisions of AR 600-45, dated 22 September 1943, as amended, the Bronze Star Medal has been awarded to Private First Class (then Private) Jerry S. Gray, Company M, 291st Infantry, for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against the enemy on February 4, 1945, in France, it is announced by the War Department.

Private Gray volunteered to carry mortar ammunition on foot in the fighting in progress in the Colmar Pocket. He traversed a route over which the enemy had perfect observation and subjected to heavy fire from enemy mortars and self-propelled guns. During a barrage he was knocked to the ground from the concussion of a shell bursting nearby and several of the members of the carrying party could not continue because of wounds sustained from this bursting shell. Private Gray picked up the ammunition of his wounded comrades and continued upon his mission, making several trips to the ammunition DP.

Private First Class Gray is a resident of Cass, W. Va.

WAR VETERAN KILLED BY TRAIN AT SEEBERT ON LAST SAT. EVENING

Lincoln E. Sprankle, aged 36 years, a World War Veteran, and a member of the CCC camp at Seebert, was instantly killed last Saturday afternoon when he was hit by the Chesapeake and Ohio passenger train enroute to Ronceverte.

Sprankle, it is said, was lying on the side of the railroad track when the train rounded a bend on a downhill grade, striking the veteran on the side of the head and fracturing his skull.

Sprankle was taken on the train and delivered to the Seebert station, which was a short distance from the scene of the accident. Upon examination of the body it was found that his skull was fractured in several places, several bones in his body were broken and one arm badly torn from being dragged along the tracks.

The body was brought to the Z. S. Smith undertaking parlor, where it was prepared for shipment to his home in East Palestine, O. Before shipment a military service was conducted by the veterans of the camp, after which the body was shipped to his home for burial.

AFTER PROHIBITION WHAT?

With the rock-ribbed "original" dry state of Maine falling into line for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, and Maryland, Minnesota, and Colorado, it is all over but the shouting so far as National Prohibition is concerned. Thirty-one states have ratified the repeal amendment so far; every state in which the question has been put to vote. In the light of what has occurred, it is foolish to doubt that all others will vote for repeal as soon as they have the chance, so that by the fifth of December the full thirty-six states whose consent is required to change the Constitution will have registered their consent.

The concern of everyone who regards the liquor traffic as a serious and degrading evil must, therefore, be focussed now on three major items. First, what will Congress do, when it meets in January, in the matter of necessary legislation, both as to the tax to be imposed upon "hard" liquor and laws for the protection of any state which may vote itself dry? For each state is again free to set up its own regulation of the liquor traffic, or to ban it altogether; and it is not at all inconceivable that states which went two to one for national prohibition repeal may vote themselves dry, feeling that they would be able to control what the Federal government could not control. Next, every state legislature will be faced with the necessity of deciding how to license and tax the traffic.

The third concern of those who are opposed to the liquor traffic is with the education of youth in the ways of temperance. That is the most important item of all. It was tremendously effective in the pre-prohibition day; so effective that drinking was hardly tolerated in most communities and drunkenness was uniformly held disgraceful.

We believe there will be a great revival of the temperance movement, and we sincerely hope it will be effective.

LOOKING AHEAD

It seems certain enough to us that we shall pull out of the depression about as rapidly as human affairs in the large can be expected to move. A few months from now everybody will realize that the worst has passed; a year or two from now most will have forgotten there ever was a depression.

Things are getting set for the next big upward spurt. Once we are all on solid ground again, big things are waiting to be done. New inventions, which will be the basis of new industries, have been making time, making tentative advances.

I am offering my entire stock of goods and fixtures for $500.00. Come and look them over. My care for my mother is my main business.
